Third Coast Welcomes Matt Clarke as a Director with the Firm

Third Coast Capital Advisors is pleased to announce that Matt Clarke has joined the firm as a Director. Mr. Clarke will have responsibility for transaction origination and execution. Prior to working with Third Coast Capital Advisors, Mr. Clarke was the global head of Corporate Development at Novus International, a health and nutrition company based in St. Louis with $1 billion in annual sales. While at Novus, Mr. Clarke led a team of corporate development professionals and he was directly responsible for the negotiation and execution of multiple acquisitions and joint ventures in the U.S. and abroad. Mr. Clarke's prior experience also includes finance and sales positions at Novus and at a technology company, along with a stint in the tax departments at Deloitte & Touche and Price Waterhouse Coopers. Mr. Clarke is a CPA and earned a Master of Business Administration degree from the Washington University Olin School of Business and a Bachelor of Arts degree in accounting from Brigham Young University.
